Hair comes the bride!

It's your crowning glory, and the most important day of your life. Although you could argue that having your hair up for any special occasion really tops off your outfit. So for our wedding issue, Emma Wells looks into what's hot for wedding hair this season...

Today's brides have an abundance of looks to choose from on their big day. But whatever style you choose for your crowning glory – dreamy daytime, delicate and demure or natural beauty – looking your best on the big day is more than a must, it's essential.

With a little planning you can achieve this. You could end up with a mixture of two looks at once – elegant yet natural. It's also perfectly OK to pull out all the stops and go for something more dramatic, including hair extensions or jewels. However all of the experts agree the top tip regarding wedding hair is to make sure you are going to feel like an extra gorgeous and incredibly comfortable, confident you. We have got together with some of the top salons around Brighton and Hove offering wedding hair packages and gathered some extra tips to make your special day flow like clockwork.

TOP TIPS

■ Plan, practice and practice. As with everything for your wedding, planning is key, but with your hair it's the practice that will really ensure that romance reigns on the day.

■ Not the best time for a new style – experiment 3 months before as any late changes may leave you stressed and unhappy.

■ Book in at a top salon for an initial consultation approximately 3 months before your big day.

■ Find a look that suits you, which compliments your face, your wedding dress and your overall style, then leave it up to the experts.

■ Book 1, 2 or even 3 trial appointments to try out your look in the salon and to experiment with hair accessories. This leaves plenty of time to adapt your style should you need to.

To give you a head start, the best of Brighton's salons have come up with some great hair ideas to get you thinking.
